

Team Icebreaker

Instructions:

Add a photo of something that describes you. List five key personal values.

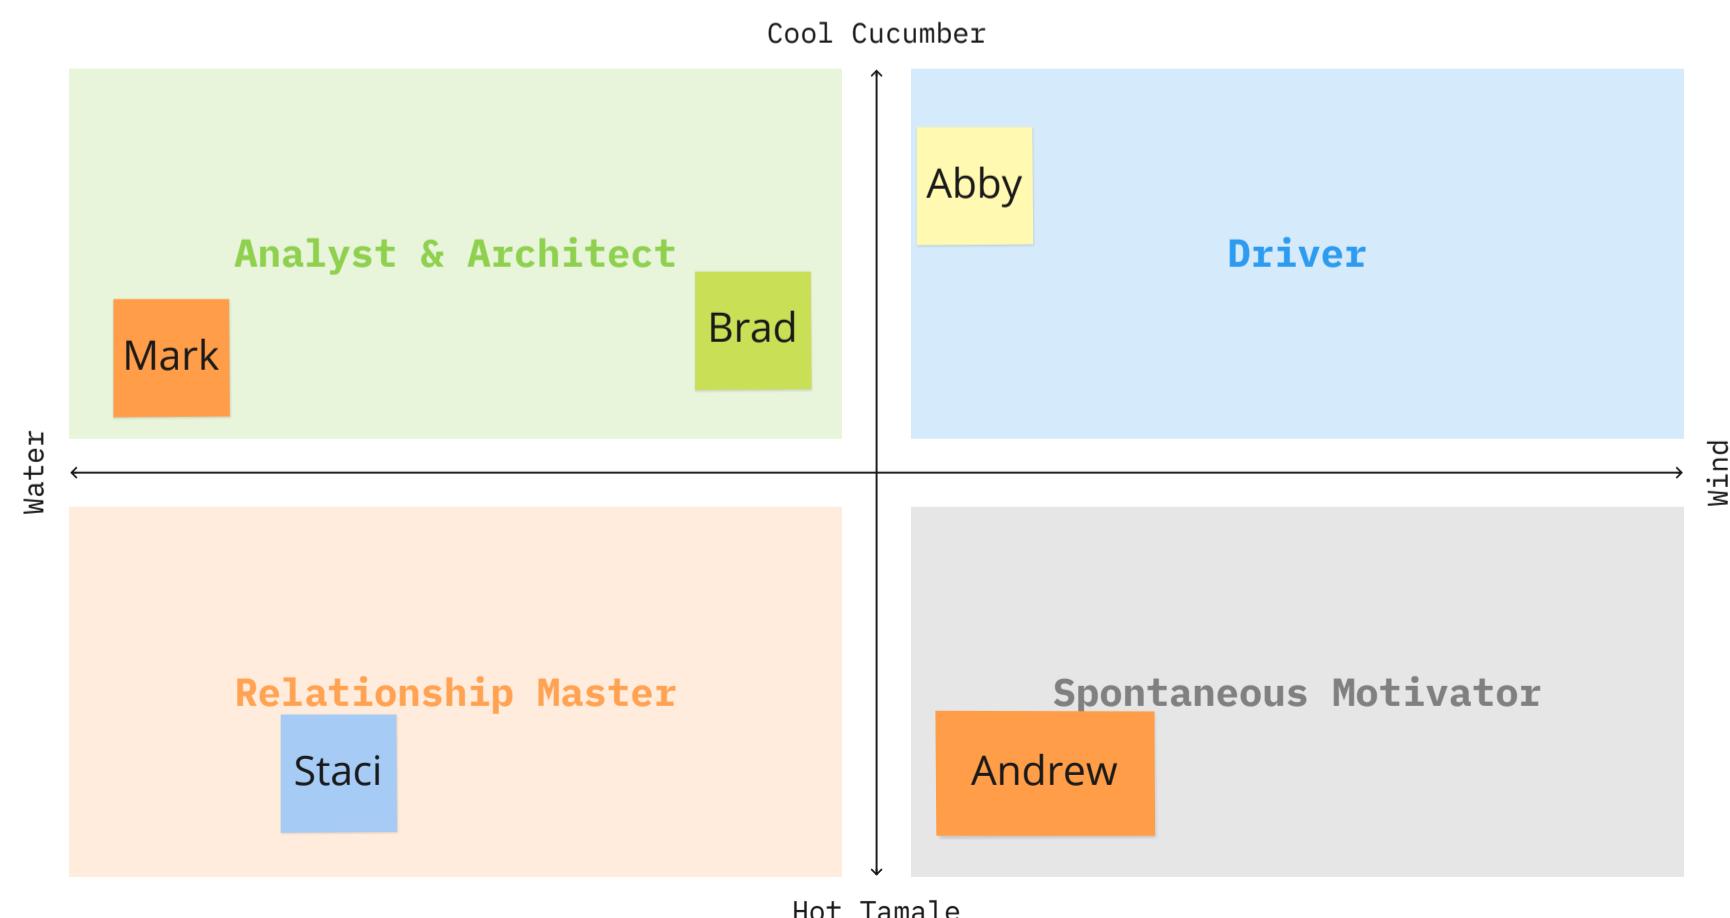

Take a few minutes for each person to describe their photo and talk about their values.

Listen to each other a try to begin to understand each other.

Instructions:

Discuss as a team each team member's values. Look for commonalities or ways the values overlap with each other. As a team, decide of the top 5 shared values that will ground this team for the remainder of the project.

Personality Quadrants

Instructions:

Work through the activity in Model the Way. Determine each person's "personality quadrant." Discuss as a group where each person is. Is the group all water? Is the group more cool cucumbers? Look at the pros and cons of each category. How will your group address the different personalities?
